Hathaway Construction Volunteers within the Community

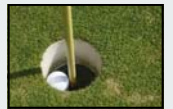

Hathaway Construction has helped to fulfill the vision of a space in which children can learn and explore in a natural hands-on environment. Daniel Hathaway, President of Construction, and Trip Booker, Senior Project Manager, volunteered their time and effort to facilitate the construction of the new Outdoor Class Room at Peachtree Presbyterian Pre-school.

Research shows that an outdoor environment is conducive for working with special needs children as well as common children. Early attention to nature's details plays an important role in speech development as well as other cognitive skills and leaves a lasting impression on young children.

The preschool was fortunate to receive a $10,000 grant from Dimensions Foundation to begin this process and worked with an architect from Arbor Day Foundation on a concept plan. Still, designing and building an outdoor classroom is a daunting task. Daniel Hathaway and Trip Booker aided in the 8,000 SF Outdoor Classroom by handling the site work and project management of the project. They assisted in everything from creating walls, a potting shed, a performance stage, bench installation and much more. With the support from Hathaway Construction and other partners of the church, they collaborated to build an amazing Outdoor Classroom that will be enjoyed for many years to come.

THE TRUTH HURTS 2011

Hathaway Construction decided that it was time to challenge ourselves to a healthier 2011 acknowledging that the truth sometimes really does hurt! The challenge will endure from February to December with quarterly and year end incentives. The idea here is to promote wellness within our company and families who are also looking for a good challenge. The winners will be the male and female with the highest body fat percentage loss.

CASA 2011

On Monday, May 2nd at the Harbor Club on Lake Oconee, Hathaway will partake in its 9th annual "Swing a Club" for CASA charity golf tournament. This tournament is a fun and exciting way to help an organization that provides essential services to the children in the community. CASA, or Court Appointed Special Advocates, is a national non-profit organization that was created in 1977 to represent the best interests of neglected and abused children. More than 900 CASA programs are in operation today, including Ocmulgee CASA, which encompasses eight counties in Middle Georgia. CASA volunteers make a difference in children's lives, and Hathaway has been proud to be a part of this program for the past 8 years.

Under Michael Muggridge's direction, Hathaway's COO, Hathaway took the initiative in 2002 to coordinate the tournament. Employees reached out to friends and family, as well as vendors and customers to support and raise money for this special event. It was through successful networking and spreading CASA awareness that truly helped people understand and want to be involved with the organization. Although this was Hathaway's first fundraising attempt, through the efforts of everyone involved, nearly $12,000 was raised for the CASA charity in 2003.

To this day Hathaway is still organizing the annual CASA Golf Tournament located at the Harbor Club Golf Course. Each year has been equally or more successful than the last. In 2010 there were 30 employees involved and nearly $45,000 in charitable money was raised for the CASA organization. In addition, priceless volunteer hours were put in by all departments of Hathaway, as well as the extensive network of professionals surrounding Hathaway's employees. Not only were the employees able to use their business influence and relationships to get people involved, they were also able to educate and spread awareness for an important cause. Since 2003 we have raised nearly $200,000 for CASA.
